Team

Making a book is teamwork. I am grateful that so many have supported me in making Central African Forests Forever.

First of all I would like to thank book designer Emiel Hoving. It is always possible to make an appeal to Emiel at all times, until late in the evening and in weekends. It has been a great pleasure to make the book together, Emiel.

The pleasure of working together applies to all members of the team: Peter Davies (proofreading English), Fanja Andriamialisoa (French translation), Véronique Lhuissier (proofreading French), web designer Mariëtte Boomgaard and production manager Hans Olykan. I feel blessed to have been part of such a tremendous team.

René Boot, professor Sustainable Tropical Forest Management at University Utrecht and director of NGO Tropenbos International; Jaap van der Waarde, senior advisor Landscapes and Species and expert in nature conservation in Central Africa at Worldwide Fund for Nature (WWF) in the Netherlands: thank you both very much for your valuable advice.

Cécile Ndjebet, president of the African Women's Network for Community Management of Forests (REFACOF); Isilda Nhantumbo, senior researcher at the International Institute for Environment and Development (IIED); Tullia Baldassarri of timber company Interholco: thank you, the three of you, for inspiring me.

Thank you Romain Lorent of the Central African Forest Commission (COMIFAC), tropical timber expert Hans Stout and consultant Jan van den Herik for your great support.

Dear Elleke, and our daughters Willemijn and Jetske: your love, support and encouragements have given me the strength to complete Central African Forests Forever.
